Description

Saarbrücken is a contemporary bench system originally designed for the Berliner Promenade, combining laser-cut steel side panels with generous timber seat boards to deliver high comfort and a strong architectural presence. Standard bench length is 200 cm with options that include armrests, high backrest, and backless “hockerbank” variants, enabling continuous linear seating in prominent public realm settings. Metalwork is supplied galvanised, with optional WEW fine-texture colour finishes, and timber can be specified in untreated native or hardwood with oiled surface available. The series is engineered for secure ground fixing and long service life, ideal for civic squares, promenades and transport interchanges.
